Phonics Dominoes are a fun, hands-on way for beginning readers to practice word-formation skills and build their confidence on the road to reading success. Included are 84 dominoes with high-utility consonants (s, t, m, f, r, b, l, etc.) and 27 phonograms (word families). Learning common phonograms is an important step to developing reading fluency.

The following short vowel phonograms are included: ab, ad, ae, am, an, ap, at, ar, ed, eg, en, et, id, ig, in, ir, is, ob, od, og, op, ot, ub, ud, ug, un.

Activities

Word Train Race
Set the dominoes face up on a table. Encourage two or more students to compete to make the longest “word train” possible by connecting dominoes. If you wish, allow a specific amount of time for the race. When time is called, students read the words in their trains aloud.

Variation: Have students use dominoes in only one or two specific colors to create their trains.

Word Race
Place five to ten dominoes in a small paper bag. Give the bag to a pair of students. Provide paper and pencils. When you say “begin,” the students remove one domino from the bag. Students then race to write down as many words as possible with the short vowel word family on the domino before you call “time.” Give students about a minute. The students then read their words aloud to each other and tally the number of words each has written. The student with more words wins the round. Play continues until all dominoes in the bag have been used.

Variation: Give teams of students a domino with the same phonogram and let the teams compete against one another. Whichever team writes down the most words wins.

Before and After
Work with one or two students to practice manipulating phonemes and build phonemic awareness. Depending on the student(s), set out a dozen or more dominoes. Choose a target domino. Have the students take turns adding a domino before the target domino to make words. Then have students take turns adding a domino after the target domino to make words. Change the target domino several times during the activity.
Phonics Dominoes are a fun, hands-on way for beginning readers to practice word-formation skills and build their confidence on the road to reading success. Included are 84 dominoes with high-utility consonants (s, t, m, f, r, b, l, etc.) and 27 phonograms (word families). Learning common phonograms is an important step to developing reading fluency.

The following short vowel phonograms are included: ab, ad, ag, am, an, ap, at, ark, ed, eg, en, et, id, ig, ip, in, ill, ob, od, og, op, ot, ub, ud, ug, un.

Activities

Word Train Race
Set the dominoes face up on a table. Encourage two or more students to compete to make the longest “word train” possible by connecting dominoes. If you wish, allow a specific amount of time for the race. When time is called, students read the words in their trains aloud.

Variation: Have students use dominoes in only one or two specific colors to create their trains.

Variation: Have students use dominoes in only one or two specific colors to create their trains.

Word Race
Place five to ten dominoes in a small paper bag. Give the bag to a pair of students. Provide paper and pencils. When you say “begin,” the students remove one domino from the bag. Students then race to write down as many words as possible with the short vowel word family on the domino before you call “time.” Give students about a minute. The students then read their words aloud to each other and tally the number of words each has written. The student with more words wins the round. Play continues until all dominoes in the bag have been used.

Variation: Give teams of students a domino with the same phonogram and let the teams compete against one another. Whichver team writes down the most words wins.

Before and After
Work with one or two students to practice manipulating phonemes and build phonemic awareness. Depending on the student(s), set out a dozen or more dominoes. Choose a target domino. Have the students take turns adding a domino before the target domino to make words. Then have students take turns adding a domino after the target domino to make words. Change the target domino several times during the activity.

Look for these additional Phonics Dominoes sets:
EI-2941 Phonics Dominoes Short Vowels
EI-2942 Phonics Dominoes Blends and Digraphs

© 2007 Educational Insights, Inc., Rancho Dominguez, CA (USA). Learning Resources, Ltd., King’s Lynn, Norfolk (UK). All rights reserved. Made in China. Please retain this information.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: (800) 995-4436 Monday–Friday

WEBSITE: www.EducationalInsights.com

WARNING: CROUCHING TURTLE, PARENTS! Not for children under three (3) years.